NEW FRIENDS Los Angeles, March 25

Evi Longoria Parker (in black), Olivia Bloom, Courtney Cox Arquette and Jennifer Aniston help celeb hairstylist Ken Paves raise awareness for the Epidermolysis Bullosa Medical Research Foundation. Cox Arquette and husband David Arquette, who also attended, have a family friend whose son suffers from EB, an incurable genetic disorder that causes skin to become so fragile and easily torn as tissue paper. Paves, who hosted the event, "has been such an advocate for EB, and I'm proud to help increase awareness for this disease," says Longoria Parker. Guests munched on tacos and chips and guacamole in the VIP room of Longoria Parker's Bibo restaurant, while Paves greeted clients and friends like Jessica Simpson and Kate Beckinsale (over).
